in most committee meetings, decisions do not have to be unanimous but everyone must feel they have had an opportunity to express their opinion and that they were actively heard.