the danger? you might be slower to recognize thirst and thus be at more risk of becoming dehydrated (especially children, who lose water through increased activity and sweat) and, she says, one goal is to change their "worldview of where they fit in."