stimulants are chemicals in the form of drugs that are used for the purpose of exciting the central nervous system or simply to enhance your brain activity.