the action followed caracor’s failure to cgmp requirements and the issuance of several voluntary recalls

i cannot imagine what it’s like for doctors who train or work away from their homelands to endure western medicine training, and suck it up all the while.