when fda withdrew those regulations, it withdrew them in their entirety the basic labeling provisions that had been upheld as well as the provisions that had been overturned by the courts.